Have you had a stroke?

Are you a close relation or friend of someone who has had a stroke?

Are you a health or social care professional working in stroke at any stage of the pathway?

You can have your say for stroke research

Tell us the important questions you have about stroke by completing our online or paper form.

Join us at a workshop to decide what questions you'd like stroke research to answer.

You can help to make sure our research focuses on what's important to people affected by stroke.
